

SUCCESS PYRAMID

"You are a product of your environment." W. Clement Stone

The base of the success pyramid is Environment. We are not talking about natural environment with beautiful view of sea or hills with lots of greenery, but the kind of people you interact or surrounded by. That is your family background, cultural background and the religions you have been brought up, the schools and colleges where you study and your friend circle creates a certain belief system in you. When we believe something then only we act; otherwise we hesitate to take action. If you take an action, definitely you will get result. The result is positive or negative will depend on the goal you have set. If your actions are towards your goal then it is positive or otherwise it may be negative. If we achieve our goal we become happy. Happiness is one of the common purposes in our life. Everyone has got a unique purpose in their life. Goals are the mile stones toward our purpose in life.
